

Pactiv Evergreen thanks our customers and partners for their ongoing patience and support. As the market leader, we quickly established a solution to help us maximize milk carton production and meet the increased demand.

- We increased our milk carton production to maximum capacity.
- We continued to operate our facilities at maximum capacity while schools were closed for the holidays to allow our customers to build inventory.
- We continue to ship generic cartons to minimize supply chain complexity.

We will continue to work with those closest to milk consumption – the dairies and dairy food processors that directly service schools – to support their forecasting accuracy and encourage them to build inventory during the summer months to prevent this situation from reoccurring.

We understand the importance of healthy school meals and are committed to supporting our customers in serving America's students.
